Oath

I shall devote myself to the advancement and extension of knowledge, recognizing that I have an obligation to my students, to my discipline, to my professional colleagues, to my college/ university, and to the public.

I embark on teaching as a moral vocation. I recognize research and scholarship as a public need and accept professional service as a social obligation. In pursuing my responsibilities, I will devote to both teaching and research the same sustained, imaginative, and rigorous attention. I will pursue new knowledge and creative activities in a scrupulous manner that befits the highest professional standards in my field. And I will play my full part in service to the larger community. In undertaking these tasks I recognize that teaching, research, technology transfer and public service are the fundamental responsibilities. I understand that every faculty member of university, ably shoulders the responsibilities, and that teaching lies at the heart of the mission of the university. I realise that i as a professor is an architect of the career of young generation. I fully understand that I ought to be a leader in the field of my specialization, and that I am creating leaders for future in engineering, technology and industry. I appreciate that tomorrow's brave new society is being created today in colleges and universities.

Towards this, I accept the trust that of transmission of knowledge with accuracy, fairness balance, and integrity are exemplified in the way my subject is presented and arguments are handled. I will present my subject, whatever it may be, with rigour but also in a liberal spirit, "illustrating the general within the particular" with a breadth of outlook and a humane concern for its foundations, context, relationships and implications.

I will respect the integrity of the relationship between professor and student, in both personal and intellectual terms, so that hucksterism or improper advocacies are as unthinkable as abuse or harassment. I will be scrupulous in preparation for class, discussion, laboratory or other exercises and supervise the same scrupulous preparation of any student teaching assistants who might assist me. I will be objective, rigorous and fair in student evaluation, and will be available for student conferences, office hours, lab sessions and other formal contacts outside the lecture room. I will not make a difference between cast, creed, religion, sex, and nationality of students. I will treat all the students with equal attention.

Finally, I will participate in the life of the university/ college community, cooperating with my colleagues in educational endeavors and participate in campus wide activities. And, as I develop in my own career, I will encourage, help, and mentor my colleagues, especially those newly appointed, to become effective teachers and successful scholars. I will contribute to create a scholarly atmosphere in college, convert negative energies of some people if any, in to positive energies.

The vow, which I freely take, I will keep, recognising that the privilege of academic freedom that is entrusted to me carries with it the obligation of professional responsibility in honour and serve my students, my discipline, my profession my colleagues, my university/college, and the larger society.
